Ashley was pregnant and homeless after her family was evicted, ending up in a cramped hotel with her children. Despite working as a nurse, her eviction and damaged credit made finding housing nearly impossible. But everything changed when she connected with Jessica of Catholic Charities' Rapid Re-housing program. Jessica worked tirelessly to find Ashley a new place to live, securing a home at just the right time - when Ashley left the hospital with her new baby, she didn't return to a hotel. She walked through her new front door. Her children had a space of their own again, and the weight of homelessness was lifted. Ashley's message to others facing similar struggles is simple but powerful: "Stay strong and keep the faith." Each year, Catholic Charities helps hundreds of families like Ashley's by advocating for clients and paying upfront rental costs. Together, we can ensure every family has a safe place to call home and a future filled with hope.
